REVISED DELEGATE REGULATIONS PROMULGATED

WASHINGTON -- Potential delegates to the national nominating conventions now have a clearer set of rules to which they may turn for guidance. The Federal Election Commission has promulgated new regulations, effective November 20, 1987.

These revisions to 11 C.F.R. 110.14 clarify the distinctions between rules governing individual delegates and those pertaining to delegate committees. They also establish criteria for determining whether delegate committees are affiliated with the campaign committees of Presidential candidates.
