WASHINGTON -- In preparation for upcoming elections, the Federal Election Commission will conduct a day-long campaign finance conference in Washington, D.C. on February 11.

The conference, which is designed to assist candidates and their campaign staffs, will be held at the Washington Hilton and Towers, 1919 Connecticut Avenue, N.W. The hours of the conference will be 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Individual 1-1/2 hour sessions will be conducted by FEC Commissioners and staff from the agency's legal, information and reports analysis divisions. An IRS representative will also be available to answer election-related tax questions. Representatives from Congressional ethics committees will brief those in attendance on the applicable House and Senate rules. Conference topics include current campaign finance issues, personal use of campaign funds, fundraising, volunteer activity, party support, corporate/labor participation, redesignations/reattributions, reporting/disclosure, staff advances, and contribution limits and prohibitions.
